A champion brave, alert and strong....To aid the right, oppose the wrong.

SOMEbody says that the cream upon milk is the only article that has not risen of late.

"This People."

We confess that we have far less charity to bestow upon the man who, reared among the healthy influences of Northern institutions, has been ready to sacrifice his country to the Moloch of slavery, than for the actual rebel in arms. As between the two we had rather trust the future of the Republic to the guidance of a conquered rebel than a disappointed "copperhead." But there is a third class beside whose faults the crimes of the others shine as virtues, who, having no special interest in the fortunes of either, rejoice only in the ruin of both. Like vultures hovering over the battle field, they revel in the slaughter and carnage and never care whether the slain are clothed in blue or gray. What an imposition on the intelligence and justice of the Supreme, when such men prophesy in His name and pray for the destruction of a nation that they and a few deluded followers may revel among its ruins!

There are criminals against the State, against society and civilization, whom to pardon were weakness and folly. Sometimes swift judgement is the higher mercy. Let those who are striving to foster upon our body-politic an excrescence compared with which African slavery was a virtue, beware and pause ere it is too late. The best way in which they can show loyalty to the Government is to acquiesce in willing obedience to its laws. Public displays and street rejoicings amount to nothing if mere policy dictates them. No man can be truly loyal to a country like ours, who rolls back the tide of civilization three thousand years and builds a social fabric from the fossil sins of antiquity.

A social institution so monstrous as that which has hitherto excluded Utah from the galaxy of states, would have been tolerated in no other civilized country in the world. Hiding its hideous deformity under the specious and profane plea of religion, it has disregarded not only the statutes of the land, but the intelligence and enlightenment of the age.

To interpret the unholy passions of the human heart as the revelations of the Divine will is, if sincere, a strange infatuation. To endeavor to ingratiate such a dogma into the creed of any religious sect is most sublime imposition. But for any people professing civilization and enlightenment to accept such blasphemous nonsense as the revealed will of God, argues a willful delusion, unholy as dangerous.

With Mormonism apart from polygamy, we have nothing to do. It doubtless is suited to the capacity of its disciples and may be all that is necessary for their spiritual welfare here, possibly for their salvation hereafter. We war not with religious opinions. But Polygamy is not religion. No law of God instituted it; nature revolts at it; civilization condemns it, and we mistake much if the better and more thoughtful of its votaries are not ashamed of it. We earnestly hope that the spiritual directors of "This people"—the acknowledged heads of the "Church"—will abandon the fatal dogma which otherwise will sooner or later bring ruin and shame upon them and their followers. And we warn the people of Utah that the day is not far distant when they will teach their children to curse the memory of those who fostered the hideous sin upon them.

Utah will become great and glorious but it will be after thistles have grown upon the grave of Polygamy.

PENNSYLVANIA has furnished 336,444 soldiers for the present war.

GREAT MINING ENTERPRISE.—Adolph Sutro proposes to construct a "deep drain tunnel" for the "great Comstock ledge" in the State of Nevada. The tunnel to be 17,000 feet in length, and tap the vein 1,800 feet below the surface. To be finished in three and a half years, at a cost of $5,000,000.

The great "black mail" suit of the "Grosch Consolidated Gold and Silver Mining Co." against the "Gould and Curry," claiming damages over $5,000,000, has been dismissed, at the cost of the plaintiff. So ends this magnificent humbug.

DR. CHAS. McCORMICK, U. S. A., has arrived at San Francisco as "Medical Director" of the Department of the Pacific.

DECLINE IN GOLD.—Dispatches received to-day announce a marked decline in gold. The tendency of gold for some time past has been downward, but the immediate cause of its tumble from about 200 to 184, though it rallied again to 188@190, is a subject of interesting conjecture. The most plausible reason assigned is the determination of Secretary McCullough to ship the cotton captured at Savannah to England. It amounts to 35,000 bales, which, at an average of 400 pounds to the bale, would make 14,000,000 pounds—worth in England, probably, from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000. This would be a considerable fund to draw against and lessen to a corresponding extent the demand for gold in New York, as it is equivalent to a remittance of gold to the amount named. There are other causes operating, which are more permanent in their nature, to reduce the demand for gold and the premium upon it. Among these may be mentioned the decrease in imports and the improved condition of national credit resulting from increased revenue receipts and the appointment as Secretary of the Treasury of a person who is known to be opposed to expanding the currency. Recent military successes, and the confident expectation of others have really less influence in depressing gold than purely commercial and financial causes. For one reason it may be hoped that the rate of declination, though steady, will be more rapid than it has lately proved, for a sudden tumble to a low figure, as the result of a great victory or any other cause, would create the most disastrous panic that has been known since 1836.—S. F. Bulletin, March 11th.

THE GREAT WEST.—Theodore Tilton, editor of the Independent, who has just returned from a Western trip of 4,000 miles, speaking in the chief cities, reports that the West is aglow with patriotic fire, that the anti-slavery spirit of the people is more intense and practical than in the East, and that in social life the Westerners are more hospitable and easy to get acquainted with than the folks in Yankee land.

The trial trip of the iron-clad Camanche was made on the 10th of last month, and resulted very favorably, her machinery worked well, and the larger guns proved all that was expected.

Thomas Hood died composing—and that, too, a humorous poem. He is said to have remarked that he was dying out of pure charity to the undertaker, who wished to turn a lively Hood!

AN ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE.

BY A RESIDENT OF UTAH.

ARTICLE 3.

From the date of the organization of the Territory to the time of the administration of the imbecile and vacillating Buchanan, things went on favorably for the interests of the faithful Mormon residents of the Territory. Those having the means of transportation, who had rendered themselves obnoxious to Mormon jurisprudence, left the Territory voluntarily to seek congeniality elsewhere; or, to save themselves from being the subjects of the summary vengeance of the Danite fraternity, fled precipitately through the hostile regions of the wild man's habitation, to the abode of civilization and even banded justice; while those, whose circumstances prevented their leaving, either met the fate the more fortunate fled to avoid, or, with a duplicity practiced by hundreds in Utah to-day, assumed a regard for the despot and despotism of Utah they never entertained.

It was during this reign of Mormon jurisprudence, while the influence of a "gentile" official seldom extended farther than to the limited circle of his immediate acquaintance, and was never acknowledged by those of the Brighamite clan, especially if calculated to militate against their ecclesiastical polity, that Justices of the Peace had their jurisdiction extended to a degree unprecedented in the annals of the history of any loyal State or Territory, and original jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases, both in chancery and common law, (a prerogative intended by Congress in the passage of the Act establishing the Territorial Government for Utah for District and Supreme Courts only,) conferred upon Probate Courts, unless otherwise inhibited by Legislative enactment; and this, notwithstanding that such a vesting of power in inferior courts, almost ad libitum ad infinitum is clearly at variance with the spirit and tenor of the law in Sec. 9. of the Act of Congress entitled "An Act to establish a Territorial Government for Utah," which states that "The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the Probate Courts and of Justices of the Peace, shall be as limited by law. Provided, That Justices of the Peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter in controversy, when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or when the debt or sum claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said Supreme and District Courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction." Yet in total disregard of this definite prohibition by Congress of jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace beyond a specific limitation, the Legislature has conferred upon them, by Legislative enactment, unlimited jurisdiction, whenever the consent of both of the litigants can be obtained. This illegal extension of their jurisdiction, and the almost unlimited cognizance of matters foreign to the jurisdiction of Probate Courts given to Probate Judges, who are invariably Mormon appointees of a Mormon Legislature, were intended to transfer the full administrative power of the law to a Mormon judiciary. The result of these illegal acts, to which the attention of the Legislature has been directed by more than one Governor, and by other loyal and conservative men, has been and still is, to shield the guilty from punishment, and punish, as guilty, the innocent.

THE ORIGIN OF "BERMUDA HUNDRED."—Chaplain Eaton, of the 7th regiment writes the Meridian Recorder relative to the origin of the name Bermuda Hundred. He says:

"In the early settlement of Virginia, slaves were located at different places, in gangs of one hundred at each point. These settlements were usually designated by taking the name of the place—with the word hundred affixed to them, from which the slaves were brought. The one hundred located at this point, which is on the extremity of the peninsula formed by the James and the Appomattox rivers, were from Bermuda—hence the name 'Bermuda hundred.'"

A thief who had broke open a grocer's warehouse, excused himself on the plea that he only went to take tea.

THE TREMENDOUS BOMBARDMENT OF FORT FISHER.—A letter from the 7th Regiment Conn. Vol., at Fort Fisher, gives a description of the bombardment of that work in which the writer says:

So continuous and telling was the fire that the garrison was driven into the bomb-proofs and made no reply with their guns, several of which were already dismounted. At this time, parapets, traverses and sloping sides of the vast earthwork were furrowed and notched by the unparalleled fire which had been concentrated upon the Fort three days and nights. Yet the work was not weakened or damaged to any considerable extent. Although shot and shell fell either upon or within the fortress, to the number of 360 a minute, or 21,600 an hour, it was not breached nor swept away, but stood with distinct and dim outlines nearly as perfect as when the first gun opened upon it. This and many other engagements, conclusively show that the most formidable offensive and defensive works are those made of earth. The bombardment, as it progressed on this day, can be but meagerly described. It was grand, terrible, impressive beyond the power of human description. The most concentrated and powerful fire had been reserved for this day. The uncanny monitors ran close in shore, and delivered their huge shells with the greatest accuracy and fine effect. The frigates Colorado and Wabash, mounting two tiers of heavy guns, took their positions farther out than the vessels of lighter draught, and poured in their terrible and rapid broadsides. They were constantly enveloped in clouds of sulphurous smoke, through which lurid tongues of fire leaped from their oaken sides. Our gunboats were formed in line of battle, and vied with each other in the terrible contest. The peaceful sea was overspread with a vast extended cloud of battle smoke, and through which the sun could not force his genial beams. Probably a more concentrated and powerful navy fire was never witnessed, probably was never equaled. So powerful was it that the solid shot and shell hurled by our largest guns, penetrated in some instances through fifteen feet of solid earth and exploded against or within the bomb-proofs. I was told by Col. Lamps secretary that the concussion within the fort, from exploding shells and solid shot, was most terrible and deafening. It seemed as if volcanic fires were leaping and thundering from the earth. The air hissed, quivering, flamed with missiles of destruction. One unceasing thunder of artillery shook the earth. On this occasion, I saw what I never before observed in a bombardment. Large wreaths or rings of powder smoke frequently issued from the muzzles of the heavy guns, and rising slowly and regularly, increased in diameter and preserved their original form for a long time.

A Roman Catholic College is about to be founded at Constantinople, kept by the French Jesuits.

The "Golden Mean." To have gold and be too mean to use it.

THE EXCITEMENT IN RICHMOND.—The receipt of the intelligence that President Lincoln wouldn't bite at the bait offered by the Peace Commissioners occasioned intense excitement. "It was like the beginning of a new war," said the Examiner, as many persons remarked who visited the Capitol and walked through the streets, hearing in every place serious and energetic words of men who had now learned, past dispute, the meaning of the word "subjugation." "If any man talks of submission he should be hung to the nearest lamp-post," was the expression frequently expressed yesterday in the streets of Richmond. All day long at the Spotswood House, the point of congregation for public men and army officers, and the most interesting center of life in Richmond, there are crowds engaged in the animated discussion of Lincoln's proposition, and in the expression of opinions which could leave no doubt of what was the spirit of the people and of the army in this new development of Confederate affairs. Congress would seem to take new life from the events of the past few days, to judge from the conversation of many of the members, several of whom declared that this body would now act with a force and expedition which would astonish those who had heretofore expected but little from it.—S. F. Flag.

The "rebs" are evidently whistling to keep up their courage.

THE OIL REGIONS.—An indefatigable gentleman of this city has been making a tour of the oil regions from Mount Diablo to the lower country, and brings back an interesting and encouraging report, as far as the extent of his observations would authorize. He found unerring indications in a number of places, and in spots where the prospectors went to work, they struck oil very close to the surface. From one orifice they made, it runs from the spring in a stream so clear and pure that it will burn vividly in a lamp, without any refining. We have seen samples, and can vouch for his correctness. On one claim, that gave little or no promise, the party found a thick, solid bed of asphaltum, hard as rock. They cut down through this, and oil came forth in quantities on the surface of the water. At the now well-known Sargent Ranch, there are asphaltum beds one-half mile in circumference, with twenty or thirty springs of oil breaking out in different directions.—S. F. Flag.

FEET.—A New York papersays: We are very glad to see that the ladies are adopting a mode of gathering their garments in festoons by an elastic cord, which relieves them not only from dragging their skirts over the dirty pavement, but restores to mankind the civilizing influence of their feet. The American ladies have the handsomest feet of any ladies in the world; and having deprived us of them, through an absurd notion, for at least five years, we naturally welcome their return with joy. We, therefore, declare permanently for festoons instead of trails.

The Camp Theater was filled on Monday evening. Billy Sheppard took a benefit, and done his best. He leaves our camp soon, we understand, and will make but one more appearance on the stage.

Local Matters.

THE DASHWAYS of this Post will give a grand ball at the Camp Douglas Hall, on Monday evening, March 26th, 1865.

This society have made every arrangement for a splendid party, and have labored with the full determination of making this the ne plus ultra of social assemblies. The hall will be decorated in the highest style of the art, the music will be executed by the very best quadrille band in Utah, and the supper is in the hands and under the immediate supervision of one thoroughly conversant with that business.

The cards of invitation are limited to seventy-five, and everything will be done by the managers to eclipse all former balls given at Camp Douglas.

H. C. REMINGTON takes a benefit at the Camp Theater on Thursday evening, March 23d, on which occasion he will be assisted by the celebrated tumblers and vaunters, Hoover, Taylor and Master Tommy. Billy Sheppard has kindly volunteered with other celebrities of our camp. The programme presents a varied and entertaining performance, and one that should fill our theater. Let the denizens of Camp Douglas turn out en masse and show their appreciation of "home production."

TAKE NOTICE IN TIME.—Pharaoh's lean kine-driver wishes the editor of the Daily Telegraph to confine himself more strictly in his items, wherein he attempts to slander and insinuate against others. It will result in his personal convenience, if he has the sense or common decency to take timely warning and let other people alone.

MR. T. A. LYNE, the Tragedian, received a very remunerative benefit at the Assembly Rooms, in S. L. City, on Monday evening. Mr. Lyne is a worthy actor and a thorough loyal gentleman, and deserves the appreciation and applause which ever attends his performances. We hope to see the efforts of this meritorious actor sustained and rewarded for all time.

YESTERDAY was a clear, warm, lovely spring day. The sun shone bright, and everyone who could were sunning themselves. It's a "little" muddy underfoot but that's much more agreeable than "cold snaps" and two feet of snow.

THE price of tickets for the Dashway Ball on Monday evening next is fixed at $6.00 each, including supper. Theirs will be unquestionably the finest table ever laid in Utah Territory.

MR. J. BOLGER, of Camp Douglas, offers a house and lot for sale in S. L. City. See advertisement.

POWER OF MUSIC.—As a striking instance of the power of music on the body, is the following, related by a venerable American judge, and copied by Arvine in his Cyclopaedia. The morning following the battle of Yorktown, I had the curiosity to attend the dressing of the wounded. Among others whose limbs were so much injured as to require amputation, was a musician, who had received a musket ball in the knee. As is usual in such cases, preparations were made to lash him down to the table to prevent the possibility of his moving. Says the sufferer: "Now Doctor, what would you be at?" "My lad, I am going to take off your leg, and it is necessary you should be lashed down." "I'll submit to no such thing; you may pluck the heart from my bosom, but you'll not confine me." "Is there a fiddle in the camp? If so bring it to me." A violin was furnished, and after tuning it he said: "Now doctor begin." And he continued to play until the operation, which took about forty minutes, was completed, without missing a note or moving a muscle.

DEFACED TREASURY NOTES.—The U. S. Mail, the official paper of the Postoffice Department, says: Postmasters are obliged to receive all Treasury notes for stamps and postage, if clearly genuine, no matter how torn or defaced they may be, provided one-twentieth part thereof be not missing. Such notes and currency received as are unfit for re-issue should be kept separate and distinct, and returned as occasion requires to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, in sums not less than $3, to be exchanged for new.

The Richmond Whig, in an article upon the resources of the Confederacy, its losses in the war, etc., etc., estimates Lee's losses in the last campaign at eighty-five thousand men!

SAVANNAH.—A theater is shortly to be opened in Savannah by a Northern manager with Northern actors. The Secretary of War has given a special permit for this purpose.

The relations between Russia and Rome are said to be far from friendly, in fact the latter seeks every opportunity to exhibit its hostile feelings.

A lady had her likeness taken by a photographer, who executed it so well that the husband prefers it to the original.

PASSING AWAY.—There were 400,000 Indians in the United States in 1850; 350,000 in 1855, and only 294,400 in 1860. A few more years and there will be none left.

Why do the recriminations of married couples resemble the sound of waves on the shore? Because they are murmurs of the tied.

Twenty square yards of stuff is now required to form a petticoat for a Parisian belle.

What is the most pleasant music in a ball room, the music of the belles, of course.

SUGAR went up so high lately that it caused a slight increase in the price of sand.
